Smarter Packaging for Smoother Surgery

UNIMED[®]
United Medical Industries Co. Ltd.

- Polypropylene suture thread is firmly affixed in a tray, to maintain integrity.
- Minimized bents for enhanced efficiency
- The tray design allows for a smooth, jerk-free pull, enabling quick and efficient suture handling, even in critical surgical scenarios.
- Each suture is precisely placed using state-of-the-art automated systems, ensuring consistent alignment and a smooth, uniform surface that enhances surgical performance.

- User-friendly access and handling, improving the overall surgical experience while maintaining sterility, integrity and precision.
- The tray design prevents dents on the suture and maintains a smooth surface, the packaging ensures optimal performance during stitching, resulting in better wound closure.

Enhanced sterility for safer,
more efficient surgical procedures.
